Springer. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 259 pages. Dimensions: 9.1in. x 6.1in. x 0.5in. The 2nd Workshop on Intelligent Media Technology for Communicative Intelligence commemorating the 10th anniversary of the Polish-Japanese Institute of Information Technology in Warsaw aimed to explore the current research topics in the field of intelligent media technologies for communicative intelligence. Communicative intelligence represents a new challenge towards building a superintelligence on the ubiquitous global network by accumulating a huge amount of human and knowledge resources. The term communicative intelligence reflects the view that communication is at the very core of intelligence and its creation. Communication permits novel ideas to emerge from intimate interactions by multiple agents, ranging from collaboration to competition. The recent advance of information and communication technologies has established an information infrastructure that allows humans and artifacts to communicate with each other beyond space and time. It enables us to advance a step further to realize a communicative intelligence with many fruitful applications. Intelligent media technologies attempt to capture and augment people's communicative activities by embedding computers into the environment to enhance interactions in an unobtrusive manner. The introduction of embodied conversational agents that might mediate conversations among people in a social context is the next step in the process. The scope of intelligent media technologies includes design and development of intelligent supports for content production, distribution, and utilization, since rich content is crucial for communication in many applications. The promising applications of intelligence media technologies include e-learning, knowledge management systems, e-democracy, and other communication-intensive subject domains. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg, OR, La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
